OLD STUDENTS.

Wardensville, W. Va. March 8, 1909.
My Dear Old Gazette,—Permit the above familiar address, as years ago as a student of old St. John's and later a teacher in that excellent military academy it was my privilege to know your editor and to be honored occasionally with a place in your columns.
In the long lapse of years—a quarter of a century—many changes have occurred doubtless in your office, management and service, but I think of you as known in the days of yore. Nor has St. John's, my old schoolmates and "fellows" of the graduating class of 1873 been ever forgotten. Occasional correspondence with Father Carne, whose interest, instruction and counsel did so much for the ennobling and development of my best powers, has kept me in touch with some of the persons and places where youth's joys and profitable days were spent. The enclosed was intended for one of those occasions when old St. J. A. students held reunions. But I could not attend, and the rhyme was never sent.
If of any merit, and a reminder of old times to the boys, you are at liberty to use it. Sincerely yours,
F. A. BYERLY,
Prin. W. G. School.

REUNION OF THE SOCIETY OF OLD STUDENTS, S. J. A.

We gather tonight, as we've oft done before While the years have been gliding away, To bring to remembrance those bright days of yore,
When our lives were doubtless and pleasures were sure, And 'twas easy to laugh and to play.
Time has swiftly sped onward with noiseless wings, Since our young fellows were at school, But with tenderest delight the heart still clings, To those shadowless days when life had few thins.
Bringing more pain than the master's rule.
We distinctly remember the bold pranks played, The lessons we missed, the marks we got, Even should we forget those things cannot fade, For on the school-register each of us made A record which perisheth not.
But above all we cherish in heart and in mind, Our teacher, and to him we renew Our pledge of love, how faithful, how kind, How patient he was, and how he designed To make men of us noble and true.
Let us never forget the lessons he taught, While we are juggling along through life, May all of us have, with love's tokens fraught, Be crowned with pure joys, with honors unsought, And with true, noble deeds still be rife.

MOORE'S EXPLANATION.
Willie L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, has just issued a statement following the storm of criticism for the generally regarded inaccurate prediction he made for the day President Taft was inducted into office. The statement follows:
Forecast of the Weather Bureau are before the public every day in the year. In the past about one prediction out of each ten failed to be verified, and it may be expected that the same ratio of failure will be maintained until meteorology can be made, what it is not now, an exact science. In the case of the storm that visited Washington on the 4th of March last, the fact is that the disturbance began in the capital city on the morning of the 3d, and was accurately forecast the day before. The bureau anticipated that the storm center would pass over the middle Atlantic States during the night of the 3d, and that northwest winds and falling temperature would leave a clear day for the 4th. The center passed precisely as forecast, the wind shifted, and the temperature fell, but instead of the northwest wind clearing the sky as it does in nearly all cases, precipitation in the form of snow occurred and continued for twelve hours after the storm center passed eastward. No forecast could foresee this. We were to forecast a fall of snow following the passage of storm centers that move from the northwest, we would have hundreds of failures charged against us instead of an occasional one, for it is rare that snow falls in the middle Atlantic States, except with the approach of a storm from the southwest, which causes northeast winds, and it is extremely rare that any storm in this region that begins with rain ends with snow of any considerable amount. On the contrary, many storms that begin as snow end as rain.

Good Liniment.
You will hunt a good while before you find a preparation that is equal to Chamberlain's Liniment as a cure for muscular and rheumatic pains, for the cure of sprains and soreness of the muscles. It is equally valuable for lame back and all deep seated muscular pains. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by W. F. O'Leighon & Co., and Richard Gibson.
Many Sufferers from nasal catarrh say they get splendid results by using an atomizer. For their benefit we prepare Ely's Cream Balm. Except that it is liquid it is in all respects like the healing, helpful, pain-alleviating Cream Balm that the public has been familiar with for years. No cocaine nor other dangerous drugs in it. The soothing spray is a remedy that relieves at once. All druggists, etc., including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

The Dishes in Our Menu

are so varied and tempting that it is a wonder how our chef contrives to think of and produce them. This restaurant has a surprising effect on those who pride themselves on their indifference to the kind of food they eat. The minute they inhale the fragrant odor and see the temptingly served foods they lose all indifference and eat as if they enjoyed it.
